The Arvada Festivals Commission, formed in 2001, is composed of up to twenty volunteers appointed by the Arvada City Council. Annually, these volunteers plan and produce seven family-oriented events typically attended by over 40,000 people each year.

The Commission's mission is to actively plan, coordinate, and produce events; seek sponsors; coordinate volunteers; and evaluate potential new events that celebrate Arvada as a community.

A guiding principle of the Festivals Commission is to provide:

FREE

FUN!

Arvada is a unique city with a rich history of community and business partnerships. The Commission partners with local organizations to produce some of the events that provide Arvada citizens a way to celebrate. The Festivals Commission also partners, through generous sponsorships, with local businesses that build community connections by supporting Festivals Commission celebrations.

Volunteers are always welcomed and appreciated! Volunteers may help to plan and produce these events and/or be available at specific events to assist as help is needed. Come join the fun!
