SUMMARY OF SURVEYS AND RESULTS FROM THE FIRST PUBLIC MEETING

The City of Arvada is conducting a public process to determine community desires for the future of the City-owned Pomona Parcel. Feedback from the survey and first public meeting indicates that neighbors would like to maintain the essential character of the site as a place for adventure and discovery. Many people support natural enhancements including native grassland, water quality features and other elements that provide habitat for animals. A number of residents are also in favor of amenities typical of a neighborhood park including trails, seating areas and picnic spaces.
