

Guide to Arvadapermits.org

Online access to inspections, permits and projects in real time.

Arvadapermits.org is a live view of current building activity for the City of Arvada. As a user, you can research permits that have been issued, look up addresses within the City, review registered contractors and schedule inspections on active permits. A new online feature is the ability to review active Community Development projects.

Accessing Community Development project information

Public Access:

As a user, arvadapermits.org gives you the ability to review status of development projects and see historical documents.

In an internet browser, go to arvadapermits.org

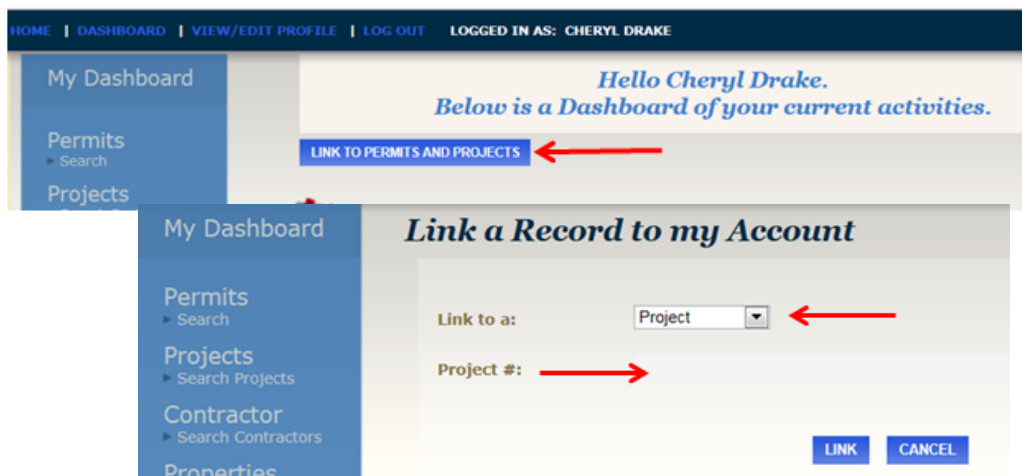

1. Click Set up account
2. Complete all of the required fields

Once your account is set up you will be taken to the dashboard. To see a permit that you recently received you will need to link to that permit. See Linking to Permits for directions.

Linking to Projects for Public Users Only.

As a public user you need to link to the project that you want to track. Once logged in you will see "Link to permits and projects" on your dashboard. Use the drop down arrow to select "Project", type in the project number and click "Link". The project will now appear on your dashboard under My Active Projects and you can view results and see review information.

Click the project number to view the project details.
