

Arvada's Water Smart Streetscapes

While the introduction of raised medians on Arvada's arterial streets brings the obvious advantage of pedestrian safety – did you also know that water conservation was prioritized with their landscaping?

The City of Arvada has not used turf grass on our medians since the late 1980's, switching instead to shrubs, perennials and ground covers that are drought resistant.

By placing these medians on the City's computerized irrigation system we are able to track our savings and shift our watering as needed. Plus, many of the medians also use solar power controllers.
